

Giving WHILE LIVING

MAKE THE WORLD BETTER TODAY

Meet Andrew and Robin Hunt.

It is an honor to partner with them and to share the story of their philanthropic journey.

Honoring a family legacy while forging their own path.

Andrew Hunt's motto is "to whom much is given, much is expected." A lifelong trustee of the Roy A. Hunt Foundation established by his grandfather, Andrew is proud that four generations of Hunt family members continue what was started in 1951.

Philanthropy is a vocation for Andrew and his wife, Robin. They are committed to being engaged donors, partnering with organizations that have real impact and purpose. Over the past five years, they have donated $2.7 million to more than 40 nonprofits serving primarily Martin and St. Lucie counties. Their giving focuses on youth development, youth violence prevention, and the environment through Boys & Girls Clubs, Big Brothers Big Sisters, The Roundtable, and Florida Oceanographic Society.

Andrew built his career as an entrepreneur in the high-tech specialty fitness industry. Today, he blends his love of sports and enthusiasm for youth development as founder and president of First Tee Treasure Coast. This nationally recognized and evidence-based program is about more than golf. Through a curriculum focused on Nine Core Values and Nine Healthy Habits, First Tee helps children meet challenges and reach their full potential.

The Hunts established a fund at The Community Foundation Martin-St. Lucie to tap into their deep understanding of the charitable landscape and community need. Andrew sees collective giving as a way to join forces and exponentially increase impact: Whether we lead the effort or join in, that's real philanthropy.
